Help Us Grow Centre Wellington Men Who Care

One of the reasons Centre Wellington Men Who Care has been successful is simple: good people telling other good people about the impact we're making together.

We're asking each member to help spread the word to friends, neighbours, colleagues, family members, and community leaders who care about making a difference locally. Please consider sharing one of the messages below through email, text, or social media channels.

Social Post / Message

I've joined Centre Wellington Men Who Care, and I've found it's one of the simplest and most rewarding ways to support local charities.

Four times a year, members come together, hear from local organizations, and collectively direct funding to make a difference in our community.

If you're looking for a meaningful way to give back locally and connect with other men, I encourage you to learn more.
